

My Precept

We always do hard work to get success. But to get success, we must have to know who we are? and why we are here? Well, I'm asking this question to myself. That kind of question, just roaming around my head. And my answer is I'm that type of guy who never gives up. I'm that guy who wants to bring peace all around the world. I'm that guy who wants to be creative and make others creative. I want to learn hard and write less with the full of meaning. I want to make the inkpot empty by writing my critical thought about our life.

I just want to tell you that "Know Yourself." Only then you can understand the power you have to bring change, no matter how small, to the world around you. Do your best. Never give up. You might get stock by other thoughts. Never get disappointed by other's opinions. You have to have the ability to take what people did and how they did it, forgive them and move on. Don't try to humiliate others. And don't get jealous of other's success cause you just can't beat a person who never gives up. Do your work. Just focus on what you did. Nothing is impossible. Impossible itself is I'm impossible. Everything always seems impossible until it's done. So, try to do your best.

If you want to do some work, then you must have to make a plan. Working without a plan may seem scary. But blindly following a plan that has no relationship with reality is even scarier. Don't ignore the small things cause a very little key will open a very heavy door. So, know yourself. The best way to predict your future is to create new things. Only after that, you can get success in your life.

At last, Perfection is achieved not when there is nothing more to add. But when there is nothing left to take away. So, I just wanna tell you guys that good, better, and best. You should never rest until your good is better and better is best.
